

Five of the Candidates for King of Coney's Big Mardi Gras Festival

NEW CANDIDATES FOR CONY KING START OFF WELL

Two Other Theatre Managers Vie with Kaplan for Honor.

While the leaders in the great free-for-all race for the honor of wearing the crown of the King of the Coney Island Mardi Gras Festival rested on their laurels after the hard work of the day before—with the exception of Mortimer Kaplan, the "King of the Amateurs," who reduced Fernand Akoun's lead to 721 by a spurt—several of the candidates who had been in the "also ran" class forged ahead in the eighth day's balloting and loom up today as possibilities.

To-morrow they may be probabilities. But there will be no "sure thing" until the polls in this most remarkable election is closed at sundown on Sept. 12.

Corse Payton, the popular actor-manager of the Lee Avenue Theatre, Brooklyn, was among these. Mr. Payton's friends had been sending in ballots out from The Evening World and bearing his name for several days, but only a few each day. A total of 144 votes had accumulated in the Payton pigeon-hole when the votes were counted for yesterday's paper. In the next twenty-four hours 216 ballots for Payton came in, and there are unmistakable signs of an impending snowstorm of Payton ballots.

This Ballot Box Filling Fast.
At each performance at the Lee Avenue Theatre, matinee and evening, an announcement is made that Mr. Payton has been nominated for King of the Coney Island Carnival and that any one in the audience who would like to vote for King can do so by securing an Evening World of the previous evening, cutting out the ballot coupon in the lower left-hand corner of the second page, writing upon it the name of his or her candidate and depositing the ballot in the ballot box at the door.

Now that ballot box is full. A small pile-driver has been used to pack them down, but there is still room left, and the box will have to be opened pretty soon. Then its contents will be revealed. It is predicted that there will be a preponderance of Payton ballots in the box that when added to today's 300 they will make a total of 516 for Corse Payton.

A New "Stage" Candidate.

While Mortimer Kaplan, who is the candidate of the amateur stage, is still ahead, and his votes are coming in from

HOWARD W. AMELL

GEO. LAMBERT

Staten Island's Happyland, Deming's Casino, Rockaway, Paradise Park, For George, and other habitats of the "get-the-hoop" actors, there is a third representative of the stage who is very popular and whose name appears on many ballots—Augustus Phillips, of the Keith & Franklin Fifth Avenue Theatre.

The "Spoonster" in Manhattan and Brooklyn are canvassing for Gus Phillips, and they say he will make the Corse Payton vote look small at the finish. A nice little letter from six nice and sweet similes—Hazel, Margaret, Harriet, Helen, Ida and Ethel—signs for his election, with the hope that his Queen will be Miss Edna May Spooner. Edward A. Brion, of No. 132 Bergen street, Brooklyn, is another whose votes have been coming in steadily until there are 315 to his credit.

Other Promising Candidates.

Minroe J. Fisher is another promising new candidate. In two days 263 votes have been cast for him. He is a life-long resident and a popular Coney Islander.

Dr. Francis M. Burke, a popular young physician of South Meadows, Argyle and Glenwood roads, has 83 votes.

The Heeper Club, of this city, puts Fred Sicken in the field, with ten votes to start on.

As was predicted, it required only a look at the open face of "Doc" H. Ray, known as an evidence of good faith, and it is ascertained in his behalf that Belshazzar man within ten hours.

Patric H. Shea, of the Gilsey House, Coney Island, has been nominated for King, and it is ascertained in his behalf that he is a lineal descendant of Brian Barry, through his son Desmond, King of Munster, Ireland.

"Matt" W. Boyan, the superintendent of the telephone and telegraph lines of Coney Island, has 77 votes to his credit today. The telephone girls are working for him, and it is said they are hoarding up the stock of them.

Party-wise neighbors of John A. Dunn are also working for him, and it is said they are hoarding up the stock of them.

HUNCHAK PLOTS MAKE FOLK DENY PRIEST LODGING

Many Armenians Worried Because People Refuse to Have Dealings With Them.

Fear of the Hunchaks is working great hardship upon many Armenians of this city who do not belong to the terrorist society and abhor its policy of murder. The Rev. H. G. M. Marashian, an evangelist and singer of note among his countrymen, who is employed by an electrical supply company of Jersey City, came to The Evening World office at 4 o'clock this morning and told of his troubles in obtaining a place to live, in the hope that publication of his experiences might result in improving the public feeling toward his people. He said he rented a furnished room at No. 10 Clinton avenue, Jersey City, three days ago and was kindly treated until his landlady learned he was an Armenian. On this discovery she asked for references, which he gave. These references were from ministers and business men who knew the priest well. The woman, however, did not look up the references, he said, but last night ordered him to leave. He had paid a week's rent, and objected mildly to getting out in the evening. About 10 o'clock Policeman Herring was called in by the woman, but the bluecoat told her he couldn't take the clergyman away unless she charged him with something. This she couldn't do because of his presence that he agreed to get out anyway. He came to Manhattan in search of a hotel. The Rev. Mr. Marashian said he was at Ocean Grove the other day on business and had the same trouble. Several elderly women could neither eat nor sleep while he was in the house, though the owner of the boarding place knew him and assured her lodgers that he was not an assassin. Respectable Armenians all over the country are having similar difficulties.

Joyful Work.
(From the Philadelphia Press.)
"I've got a great job now," said the fat man.
"What job?" replied the lean one.
"What are you doing?"
"Working down at the grocery, making holes in Schweitzer cheese."

NEW WITNESSES SAW SLAYER WITH UNFROCKED PRIEST

Two new witnesses have been found by the police and District Attorney's detectives, who declare they saw Levent Martouguessian and Bedros Khachadurian together on three occasions just before the murder by Bedros of H. S. Tavanianian, the rug dealer, and renewed efforts are being made to-day to connect the expert with the assassination.

It was admitted both by the District Attorney's office and the police that sufficient evidence has already been given by the new witnesses to warrant presenting the facts to the Grand Jury for an indictment for murder against Martouguessian.
